Upon her return, she finds Yuri absent and his wife about to deliver a child. When tragic circumstances ensue, Britta suddenly finds herself caring for Yuri's children--and her life intertwining with the man she's tried so hard to forget. But Britta's other great love is for the violin, and her talent is recognized by Brenton Maltese, a conductor from England. He proposes she accept the coveted first chair position in his orchestra.and also his hand in marriage. At a crossroads, Britta must determine what her heart truly longs for--and if she's willing to fight for it.Editorial ReviewsFrom the Inside FlapI know very well what my heart longs for. I simply cannot have it.Britta was just a young girl when she first proclaimed her love for Yuri Belikov. And though she had hoped time and distance would reveal her childish dreams were simply that--childish dreams--she cannot deny the powerful emotions that still consume her.But Yuri has changed and has a family of his own. While her mind tells her to think of her own future, to the opportunity to travel and pursue her passion for music, her heart still longs for love. Will Britta find the strength to put her trust in the One who longs to guide her steps? --This text refers to the Hardcover edition.From the Back CoverBritta Lindquist left Sitka six years ago in an attempt to distance herself from the love of her life, Yuri Belikov.
